

Korea Province (amid covid-19 pandemic)

[1] Sisters in Korea sewed cotton masks with their own hands for participating in efforts to overcome covid-19. They donated sewed masks to the vulnerable who needed masks but couldn't get them, especially the immigrants in connection with the Daejeon Diocese.

[2] All the sisters of Seoul community including even the oldest sister made sandwich and lunch box for health care workers and volunteers in the local community amid COVID-19 pandemic.

Hyehwa community's sisters also made and shared side dishes that could be kept for a long time for senior citizens who live alone in the local community. In the lunch box, not only the food made by the sisters, but also the message of love was delivered in the card.
